Applications:

Custom metal pins are perfect for corporate events, conferences, and trade shows. They can be used to promote a new product or service, as a giveaway for attendees, or as a way to recognize and reward employees. The minimum order quantity for these pins is just one piece, making them a great choice for small businesses or individuals.

The packaging for these pins comes in individual polybags, which makes them easy to distribute and store. The attachment on these pins can be customized to suit your needs, with options including butterfly clutches, rubber clutches, and deluxe clutches. The shape of the pins can also be customized to suit your logo or design, making them a truly unique and memorable gift or giveaway. These die-casted metal pins are 1.75 inches in size and feature a 2D design with textured background that really makes them stand out. They are made from high-quality metal, which ensures that they are durable and long-lasting. Whether you are looking for a way to promote your business or simply want to show your support for a cause, these custom metal pins are a great choice.

Some of the scenarios where custom metal pins can be used include political campaigns, charity events, sports teams, and schools. They can also be used as a way to commemorate a special occasion, such as a wedding or anniversary. Whatever your needs, Progifts has a wide range of options to choose from, ensuring that you can find the perfect die-struck lapel pins for your needs.

Packing and Shipping:

Product Packaging:

All custom metal pins will be packaged in a protective polybag to prevent scratching or damage during transit. For orders of 500 pins or more, we offer custom packaging options including backing cards and gift boxes.
